

American Military Colonialism Threatens Nigeria

(Translated)

News:

The American president has once again directed his arrows against two of Africa's largest economies, threatening military intervention against Islamist militants in Nigeria, and casting doubt on South Africa's role within the G20. He stated that he had instructed the U.S. Department of Defense to prepare for potential action unless the West African state takes measures. (Alsharq Business, 06/11/2025)

Comment:

Despite the risk of millions of Americans facing hunger and disease, after losing their income due to the ongoing government shutdown, now lasting more than five weeks, with no solution in sight for this crisis anytime soon, and despite the president's indifference to this matter, and his refusal to reverse even the decision to cut aid to those who were already in need before the shutdown, despite all of this, he hypocritically sheds crocodile tears over the Christians in Nigeria, and threatens a military campaign.

The truth, which is no secret to anyone, is that the last thing Western leaders, especially US presidents, think about is addressing humanitarian concerns, or helping nations and standing by their people. These leaders are, in fact, the very cause of the world's misfortunes, especially in Muslim lands. They are the ones who ignite wars across the globe, plunder the wealth of nations, and kill children, women, and the elderly without mercy or compassion. The destruction and bloodshed that occurred in Gaza stand as the clearest testimony to this. Whenever they move to "help" anyone, it is only to achieve their own selfish interests.

It is well known that Nigeria is a country rich in oil and precious and rare earth minerals, resources that have undoubtedly whetted the appetite of this criminal thief, Trump, who now seeks to seize and plunder them while simultaneously blocking China, which has built strong economic relations with Nigeria, and fostered a growing commercial presence throughout Africa.

Yes, this is the reality of the intentions of America's foolish ruler, Trump, and these are the flimsy pretexts used by the Western colonialist states to mask their occupation of nations, looting of wealth, and committing of murder and destruction. Under slogans such as "spreading democracy," "protecting human rights and freedoms," "defending minorities," and "fighting Islam under the guise of combating terrorism and extremism," these states perpetrate crimes that even savage beasts would recoil from.

Nothing will stop America and the rest of the colonial powers in its wake, nor cut off their hands from plundering the wealth and resources of the Ummah, except the establishment of the Khilafah Rashidah (Rightly-Guided Caliphate) upon the Method of the Prophethood, led by a pious and righteous Khaleefah (Caliph) who will protect the sanctity of Muslims and non-Muslims alike under its care, defend the Ummah's boundaries, and preserve its blood, honor, and wealth.
