

LEADERS MUST NOW REALIZE THAT AMERICA IS A PAPER TIGER!

News:

President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan said, “We hope that the ceasefire will be fully implemented on the ground without allowing any possible provocations or sabotage.”

Comment:

President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, in his statement regarding the ceasefire agreement between United States and Iran, said: “We are pleased with the ceasefire declared last night in the war that has turned our region into a place of fire since February 28. We hope that the ceasefire will be fully implemented on the ground without allowing provocations and sabotage. We sincerely congratulate all actors, especially our friendly and brotherly country Pakistan. Our sincere wish is that our geography, which has suffered greatly from war, conflict, tension, and oppression, will achieve peace, tranquility, and stability as soon as possible. Turkey will continue to raise the voice of peace in its region and in the world.”

A statement on this issue also came from AK Party Deputy Chairman and Party Spokesperson Ömer Çelik. In his social media statement regarding the ceasefire, Çelik said: “A temporary ceasefire has now been reached. We hope that this temporary ceasefire will be fully implemented on the ground in all its dimensions. While the diplomatic table has been established, the entire international community must remain vigilant against provocations and sabotage aimed at this table. The whole world must support diplomacy. Our President’s strong and consistent peace policy is the strongest support for the table established for peace. His will and policy for peace are a guide for all crisis areas.”

Before the Iran–U.S. ceasefire agreement, administrations such as Turkey, Egypt, and Pakistan—considered allies and partners of the United States—made efforts to establish a negotiation table for an “honorable withdrawal,” similar to what happened after America’s defeat in Afghanistan.

The leaders of these states did not show the courage to utter even a single word against America during its attacks on Iran. As if Iran had started the war, they continuously made heavy accusations against Iran.

Foreign Minister Hakan Fidan also made a statement during the Iran–U.S./“Israel” conflict, saying: “Our greatest hope is that the process will be resolved through diplomacy and dialogue. Otherwise, if the crisis prolongs, it seems inevitable that a broader anti-Iran coalition will form in the region.” It is noteworthy that these statements resemble the calls of the United States, which, after the war it initiated, found itself in difficulty and called Iran to the negotiation table.

As for President Erdoğan’s words—“We are pleased with the ceasefire declared last night in the war that has turned our region into a place of fire since February 28”—it is as if he does not know that the one who turned the region into a bloodbath and instability, and carried out massacres, is the colonialist infidel America, since he did not utter even a single word against it.

Now, both Erdoğan and other state officials continue to call for resolving the ceasefire process through diplomacy and dialogue—as if America will listen to them! Over the past century, since the abolition of the Caliphate, colonial powers have never valued or respected the words of these leaders. They did not consider them worthy of regard.

Nevertheless, these submissive leaders play very well the roles assigned to them by America. To save America—described as a “paper tiger” that is sinking and losing on the ground in Iran—they emphasize the negotiation table. By putting pressure on Iran, they try to grant America a form of legitimacy.

Leaders must now realize that the force corrupting the world, attacking lives and property, and dragging the world into instability—yes, the one responsible for all of this—is the colonialist America, and that it cannot be stopped through diplomacy or political dialogue. If only they are able to comprehend this!

These leaders must also see that America is a paper tiger, that the myth of American power has collapsed, that its massive military strength is ineffective, and that strategic alliances and friendships with the U.S. have never benefited Muslims. They must recognize that under the leadership of Donald Trump, the so-called all-mighty American ship has sunk in Hormuz.

They must understand that America is no longer omnipotent, and that the Iran–U.S./“Israel” war should be a great lesson. These leaders should sever all political ties and alliances with America, close U.S. bases on their lands that contribute to oppression, massacres, genocide, and exploitation, and immediately mobilize their armies to liberate Al-Aqsa and free all of Palestine from the occupying Jewish entity.
