

Press ReleaseAden is Witnessing Chaos and Outrage between the British and American Agents

(Translated)

As a result of the decrees issued by President Hadi, head of the so-called legitimacy in Yemen, Aden province and the southern regions are witnessing major chaos and deep anger. President Abd Rabbo Mansour Hadi issued a state decree to dismiss the governor of Aden, Aidaroos Al-Zubaidi, who is linked to the separatist movement from his post, and appointed him as an ambassador in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and he appointed Abdul Aziz Abdul Hamid Al-Muflihi as the Governor of Aden.

When Al-Zubaidi was the governor of Aden, he held a revealing press conference to the people of the south a few days before his removal, in which he said that there are forces in the legitimate government hampering his efforts in providing services to the province, especially electricity service. He said in the statement: "We were and we still have hope that the government of Dr. Ahmed Obaid Bin Dagger will bring the solution, we called them repeatedly to carry their regular duties in the framework of an integrated effort to improve the productivity of the generating stations, to bring it back to its previous level at a minimum. But the promises of the solution are still theories, and certain parties decided to shuffle the cards and to exploit the increased suffering of our people with the onset of summer, for the purpose of depleting the legitimacy of the local authority and undermine its security achievement and what it represented from a social harmony."

These events plaguing the people of the south in particular and the people of Yemen in general comes as a result of the Anglo-American conflict in Yemen. Hadi is an English agent, he tried to co-opt the southern separatist movement backed by America, which had a relationship with Iran, such as the Houthis in the north. He had given important positions in Aden to their leaders, including the most important post, the governor of the province and the director of security, in order to hold them responsibility for security and management of its affairs, and in order to guarantee that they will not drag the country to chaos and separation. Consequently to show their failure and inability to maintain the management of the province. Meanwhile the UAE, pro-England, also show another role, is working to contain the separatist movement of the south and pretends to be for the side of the issue of the South, and it plants followers in the south, and in the case the separation card grew stronger, it would have established strong grounds there to serve their English masters. It is also working for the recycling of power of the Congress party led by Ali Saleh, and this is one of the most important reasons for the difference between them and Saudi Arabia... And as we mentioned in the previous "Answer to a Question" 09/04/2017: "While Saudi Arabia aims to form pressure only on the Houthis in preparation for political settlements, UAE fights the war on the ground and pushes them back... At a time when the hostility between Saudi Arabia and Salih is taking hold, the news is that the UAE supports him, and it even saved him from one of the "Decisive Storm" raids... This relationship is also confirmed in a report by Yemen Press on 22/10/2015: (The son of ousted President Brigadier General Ahmed Ali Salih continues to reside in the UAE subject to protection of a special type, despite the UAE's involvement in war against the Houthis and Salih)!!... Thus, it plays a role for the British in Yemen that messes things for the Saudi regime that works for America there...". This is in addition to that Saudi Arabia is exploiting the Hadi card to compete with the Emirates in the south, which controls everything there, both are building an army and influence to serve the major countries of conflict, America and Britain...

These events taking place in the south after the Hadramout conference was held or the Hadhrami elites sponsored by the UAE and pro-British, in it the province of Hadramout was announced and it carried a statement with a separatist tone to mix the cards and spoil any separatist project carried out by the pro-American separatist movement in the south. The Hadramout conference has aggravated the Separatist movement, since the latter considers the south to be one and indivisible issue.

The duty of the people of Yemen in the south and north, who have been fought by all parties in the conflict and were dragged into spirals and disasters by them; there are no salaries or services or security, but only blood, murder, sedition and famine ... Their duty is to renounce them (agents) and work to overthrow them no matter how big is their sacrifice for that. It is better than the life of humiliation, famine and slow death, and it is their duty to work to restore Islam and its state in the reality of life by establishing the righteous Khilafah state on the method of Prophethood, which cuts off the Western colonial plans from their country, be they separatist or sectarian schemes or others. It is the righteous Khilafah which allows them to live in dignity and enjoy security, safety and faith under the shade of the Islamic ruling and what Allah granted them of wealth and strategic location.
